IMPORTANT:

I have to notify, that we recommend using IE for providing orders through our cart system. Unfortunately there are some errors when using Firefox and some other agents. Our new shop is in progress, but due to limited time I have in a moment, it will take a while until work is finished. New version should be better optimized for other browsers than the current one. If you receive any error and can not provide order through cart, please simply send us email and include item numbers of samples you wish to order, we will send you final invoice with payment instructions shortly. Thank you.

PS: Not sure, but I may be leaving away this coming Monday (2-nd), due to this fact, please calculate there may be some delay (7-10 days) with shipping. In this case, next shipping day would be probably right after Easter holidays, around 10-th April. Some smaller parcels we may be able to arrange on Sunday, but no guarantee, please. Thanks advance for your understanding and the patience.
