Greetings from Munich, Germany!

I have prepared five reports on what was new here in Munich in the world of minerals. The show was well attended again this year and there was an unmanageable lot to see here.

I will be starting to photograph specimens and begin posting sometime later this week.

The next step for me is to climb on a Lufthansa jet and sit still for 11.5 hours for the flight to San Francisco and then connect on the puddle jumper to Redding. Trips like this are akin to a day from hell... c'est la vie.

Cheers from Munich,
