The Auction Closes Tomorrow!

The first Pre-Tucson Mineral Auction is winding down and will close tomorrow (Thursday) January 17th at 8 PM central. Now is a great time for everyone to either check their bids, place additional bids, or place bids for the first time. Lots of fine mineral specimens still need bids and those with bids are still near the minimum reserve. I'd like to see every item find a new home and with the low starting bid levels, the opportunity to add a high quality mineral specimen to your collection at a bargain price is there for the taking. I hope everyone participates!
