Subject: * * The Pre-Denver Sale's Final Week to Ship! * *

All Showrooms Are Now on Sale!

This is just a quick update regarding the website-wide mineral sale which is currently underway. This is the final week I can ship sale purchases before departing for the Denver Mineral Show. (By the way, I will be setting up at both the Marriott West Show in Golden (Sept. 6th to 9th) and again at the main show at the Denver Mart Expo Hall (Sept. 12th to 14th) with Alpine Minerals so please come and see us!) All orders placed this week will ship out right away and orders made after this week will either be shipped from Denver or shipped when I return from the show around mid-September.

Also, I want to clarify the discounting policy during the sale. I've been asked by several collectors how the discounts work and if the website prices are reflecting the sale discounts. The prices you see online below each mineral specimen are not discounted. The website price is the original price and it will be discounted according to the discount percentage for the listed showrooms. Most discounts will average somewhere in the middle of the listed range, except for the Denver 2012 showrooms where everything is half off.

Here's a quick series of links to browse and explore hundreds of beautiful mineral specimens, all sale priced to find new homes. Discounts may increase for larger sale orders and layaways and dealer orders are always welcome!
