The Final Denver Show 2015 Update

This is it! The final Denver 2015 Showroom is online and ready for browsing! This is the sixth Denver Showroom and like the others before it, it's filled with some of the finest, most interesting specimens from last September's show. I usually don't open a new showroom on the closing day of a mineral auction but with our departure for Tucson approaching, time is running short. We still have time to ship specimens however so please feel free to make offers on any items in the new update or entire website for that matter and we'll get them shipped out tomorrow or during our show in Tucson. The Pre-Tucson Sale is still running and lots of great specimens are finding new home at huge discounts!

Something for everyone and every collection and ALL offers are very welcome!
