The Denver 2016 Mineral Auctions

As many of you probably know by now, the ExceptionalMinerals.com website has had server difficulties for the past week which has caused us some major headaches during a time we are usually preparing for the Tucson Mineral Show. We now find that our Auction webpage and online order form is not functioning properly and as a result, we are forced to close the auction that is currently up and running on the website and switch to a private best offer format. If you have an interest in the auction specimens, please email your best offer directly to my email:

kward@themineralgallery.com

Also, if you have an interest in any website specimens during the Pre-Tucson Mineral Sale, please email your selections to the same email address. We hope to have the order form / bidding form back up and running before we depart for Tucson next week. Remember, all specimens are discounted up to 50% with the Keystone Showrooms discounted 75% off the online listed prices! The sale will run through the Tucson Mineral Show next month. I hope to see everyone there!
