New Spodumene from Afghanistan

I've added some really nice new spodumene crystals in this Afghanistan Spodumene Update \(Click here\).

These spodumene crystals are from a 2017 pocket that produced colour-zoned (lilac/pink - pale green - colourless) crystals, along with some specimens that were purely lilac/pink and some that had no such hues at all. Although spodumene crystals are often etched or poorly defined, this pocket included sharp well-formed crystals and relatively low incidence of etching/dissolution features.

I've included an important note about the colour instability of the green hue in these crystals, in the relevant specimen descriptions. In general, spodumene should not be displayed in bright daylight and should not be exposed to sunlight - coloured spodumenes from various localities have been known to lose their colour in daylight, over time.

Hope you enjoy these!

Canadian and US Dollar

The currency disparity remains significant in favour of the U.S. dollar these days. My usual reminder - prices on the website are in Canadian dollars (if you are thinking in - or used to browsing online minerals in - US dollar terms).
