Subject: Back from the Munich Mineral Show

Minerals Posted at John Betts - Fine Minerals

Good news! I am back and better than ever from my recent travels.

Several regular visitors were concerned that my failure to post new minerals for the past two weeks meant something catastrophic had happened.

The simple explanation: I attended the mineral show in Munich, Germany.

All is back to normal now. I am returning to my regular routine. Orders are being shipped. And I am working on a new update. Sadly I failed to find many right-priced minerals in Munich. But I did acquire a few upgrades for my personal collection, so I will be letting go others (I limit my collection to no more than 500 mineral specimens).

Until next week I hope you visit my mineral galleries at:
